Alternative Care Program Helps Seniors Access Programs

If you are 65 and older and examining your options in long-term care, the Alternative Care (AC) may be able to help you pay for some services. You must meet certain income and asset requirements, and you must choose to receive community services instead of moving to a nursing home.

The program covers three basic types of services, including:

- Trained caregivers, including respite care
- Community residential services, including assisted living services and adult foster care
- Other services, such as home-delivered meals, adult day care, chore services and more.

If you would like to apply to the program, please call 651-266-3613.
